BRAKE TIME

Even a minor problem with your brakes can be dangerous. Whenever you have a problem with braking, you must take your car to an experienced automotive technician. There are many things that can cause brake problems and/or failure. Below is a list of symptoms to watch for:

Brake Pulls Car To Left Or Right When Braking

This can be caused by sticking or worn out brake calipers or pads. If the pull shifts from left to right, it may not be a problem with your brakes but a problem with your suspension.

ABS Brake Light Comes On

This indicates a problem with your anti-lock braking system.

Grinding Noise From Wheels

This can occur due to unwanted particles (dust or dirt) trapped in your brakes or may mean that you need to have your brake rotors replaced.
