Tip of the Month...

You need 4 winter tires to maintain vehicle handling and balance. Put your tires on a second set or rims – all the same size of course!

The Locket

The brave soldier,
in his pressed uniform,
saying his goodbyes,
on the noisy train platform.

The whistle sounded,
he clambered on,
and there she stood,
waving tearfully, his mom.

He almost cried,
as she blew him a kiss,
right then and there,
he knew he wasn't ready for this.

He couldn't go back,
he had enlisted,
the train engine started,
the smokestack misted.

He leaned his head on the seat, closed his heavy eyes,
he didn't awaken until the following sunrise.

He unpacked his bag,
pulled out his wool socks,
there in the midst,
was a small white box.

He untied the ribbon,
stuffed it in his pocket,
opened up the box,
inside was a locket.

He wore it when he fought,
and when he was apart,
from his strong steady troops, pressed it close to his heart.

And when the war ended,
he came home a wreck,
the waited arrival,
the locket round his neck.

The brave soldier,
in his dirty uniform,
saying his hello's,
on the same platform.
